

NOTES ON THE MATERIALS FOR THE CATALOGUE OF GIBBON'S LIBRARY

I. The Bentinck Street catalogue (Bn) is a classified manuscript list containing nothing later than 1777, and seems to be a fair copy made from a previous manuscript list. This would account for literal errors (e.g. 'Négèce' for 'Végèce'), and for the numerous errors in dates (e.g. 1780 for 1730), figures being more easily miscopied than words. Many of the errors in dates are demonstrable and have been corrected, but the collocation of the Bn, Ln, and Sch entries raises the suspicion that there may be others which cannot be proved. Otherwise the cataloguing in Bn is fairly accurate and the classification precise, indicating the cataloguer's knowledge of the books behind their title-pages. Bn probably has greater pretensions to completeness than Ln (see below).

II. The Lausanne manuscript card catalogue (Ln) lists approximately 1,335 works, but its incompleteness is betrayed by the large number of works (at least 200 or 300) which appear in Bn and again in Sch, but are not in Ln. The number of cards is 1,676, but many of these are duplicates or different entries for the same work; on the other hand, several works are sometimes entered on one card. While Bn enters tracts in groups (e.g. '7 Tracts on Popery 1695-1716'), Ln catalogues each separately, if often inadequately. Some of the cards were written by Gibbon's hand, but the majority by another's. The cataloguing is erratic, perfunctory in some places, needlessly full in others. It seems that the cataloguer had not much real knowledge of the books, which are entered variously, under their authors, editors, titles, or more than one of these. The headings are taken straight from the title-pages, so that an author often appears in two different forms (e.g. Le Clerc and Clericus). Mistakes abound, particularly in authors' names; the errors in dates are fewer than in Bn. Curious and meagre entries occur, such as 'Life. 8°. London. 1724', which can only be reproduced as they stand in this catalogue.

NOTES ON THE MATERIALS

III. The Schöll sale catalogues of 1832 and 1833 (Sch 1 and Sch 2) both tend to be inaccurate, especially in dates. Sch 2 does not, in spite of its preface, improve on Sch 1; in fact, although it introduces many changes in prices, it reproduces obvious blunders of Sch 1 and adds further mistakes of its own. All works in Sch 2, except one, are also in Sch 1. Three works in Sch 1 were also sold at Sotheby's in 1934 (see under Mairan, Raynal, and Valmont de Bomare). These may have been bought from Schöll by Halliday, or perhaps they re-joined Halliday's books at a later date.

IV. The books sold by Evans in 1833 are all except one (Hobbes) in the Schöll catalogue. Schöll may himself have sold them in this way, and indeed his name appears once as purchaser of a lot, which was perhaps bought in.

V. The books from the Erle-Drax Library in Mr. Howes's list do not, with one exception, appear anywhere else.

VI. In the present catalogue titles have been shortened wherever possible, and editors' names omitted except in a few places. When verification of an author or a title has proved impossible, the entry is given as it appears in the source with the addition of inverted commas. The entries under an author have been arranged as follows:

1. Complete works, original and translated.
2. Smaller collections, original and translated.
3. Single works in alphabetical order, each followed by its translations.
